were exceedingly happy in their amid-dinner speeches and the men seated about that banquet table felt as proud of them as the men of any race could feel of its truly worthy and noble women.

Mrs. Emma Battle responded to the toast, "How does the mother of an editor feel?" She said, among other things, that she loved her son as all good mothers do, but that it certainly made her feel proud to have a son who is an editor.

Miss Nellie E. King spoke to the toast, "The experiences of a proofreader on THE GLOBE." She told in a pretty little speech the "up and downs" of getting the matter sent in in shape for the press and the reading public.

Mrs. Ida Harlan, speaking to the toast of "One of the first employees of the Globe Company," said that her connection with it had been pleasant.
Miss Hettie E. Phillips told in a concise and pithy manner her experiences "As a Globe agent and reporter in East Nashville."

Mrs. D. A. Hart was given a chance to say some humorous things in her response to "The Globe on Billy Goat Hill."

Miss Nannie I. Sumner, in handling the toast, "The Globe as the outside world sees it," indulged in some jolly, laughable witticisms at the expense of the congenial editor and a long, lone editorial he had.

Weeks ahead of time so he would not be bothered during Christmas week.
Mrs. Elvira DeBerry, present clerk in the Globe office, in responding to "My work in the Globe office," said that she liked it better than any work in which she had ever been employed.

Mrs. Harriet A. Boyd told "How a mother likes for her sons to be in the journalistic field." She said that she was indeed glad to know that she had reared sons who were capable of so noble a calling.

We will not recount the particular thought thrown out by the gentlemen present, but suffice it to say they measured up to the occasion with epigrammatic speeches which teemed with humorous, catchy sayings which brought forth rounds of laughter and applause. These speeches were not without other strong and pointed thoughts.

One beautiful thing obtained, only the one speaking was deprived of partaking of the good things while he or she spoke—all others ate while they listened; but the advantage broke even as each one was called on to take his turn at speech-making.

This banquet was given in commemoration of the progress made by the Globe in its first year of existence.
Four capable men have watched over its fortune, steered its policy and shaped its destiny.

The Globe came into existence as a much-needed weapon of defense, a champion of its people's right. For no higher mission could it have come into the field of journalism, than to take up the cause of its people, who are unjustly vilified, maligned and abused in every section of this now (?) great country. There was that honest, earnest ring in the voice of this young champion as it stepped into the arena, armed cap-a-pie with pen and brains, to do battle—vigorous, strong battle—for the weak, that it became popular from the beginning.

The Globe stands forth a popular idol with the people, because they know that their every interest will be subservient by it. On the Vulcan anvil of reason there are thunderbolts of facts and truths being forged to be hurled by the strong arm of this young Jupiter at the malignant heads of misrepresentation and the false sophistries of the enemies of an oppressed people.

In conclusion, the hope is entertained that the Globe may celebrate each successive anniversary, in the coming years, with greater and more resplendent results attempted and achieved. Viva la Globe.

LETTERS OF REGRET.

Boston, Mass.
January 12, 1907.
MR. J. C. NAPIER,
The Globe Publishing Co.,
Nashville, Tenn.
My Dear Mr. Battle.—Through you, I wish to convey my congratulations to the Nashville Globe on the occasion of its celebration of its first anniversary.
The paper is the most useful and carefully edited and neatly printed of any that come to my office, and I hope for it, abundant success during the coming year.
I wish to thank you also for sending me the invitation to meet you at the Spa Cafe on Friday night, which, of course, I cannot do.

Sincerely yours,
CHARLES ALEXANDER.

Scores of letters have been received by the members of the Globe Publishing Company from persons expressing their regrets at not being able to be present at their first anniversary.
These letters have come from various parts of the United States and are not confined to ex-Nashvillians, but come from the many readers of the Globe who have watched the progress made by us in the field of journalism.

Some that have been received are as follows: Mr. Gus Johnson, Jr., San Antonio, Texas; Miss Lottie Williams, Richmond, Va.; Miss Martha Huntington Goode, Collington, Md.; Mr. Oliver J. Carter, San Antonio, Tex.; Miss Belma Mahan, Little Rock, Ark.; Mr. Jess M. Bumbrey, San Antonio, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cheatham, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Sarah M. Hughes, San Antonio, Tex.; Miss Hester O. Brown, now in Normal, Ala.; Miss Katie Evans, Tuskegee, Ala.; Miss Annie C. Fountelroy, Pine Bluff, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Yarber, Chicago, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Benefield, Hot Springs, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. T.
E. Hall, Palestine, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. James Battle, Camden, N. J.; Rev. Herman Tyree, Texas; The Freeman, Indianapolis, Ind.; Miss M. R.
Lyons, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mr. John W.
Battle, Camden, N. J.; Mr. Geo. Willis Burrill, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs.
James I. Battle, Camden, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Milton Easterling, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mrs. T. Burrill, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Muse, Denver, Col.; Mr. Phil H. Brown, Editor of the Morning News, Hopkinsville, Ky.; Miss Cora E. Hall, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Dr. J. P. Frierson, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. DeWees, Miss Georgia Bradford, Nashville.

THIRD ANNUAL REPORT ONE CENT SAVINGS BANK.

positor and every stockholder and still have had on hand a nice little financial showing. Then it would not have to close its doors. There is not a banking institution, trust company, nor any other institution in the city of Nashville that can show more.

I again ask why is it we do not have the Negroes' patronage? I now assert as stockholders, depositors and customers of this institution, each of us ought to publish on the highways, from the platform and through the press, and tell our people of these facts, and demand of them at least a portion of their patronage.

The following is the monthly and annual clearance of the bank as is shown from the pages of our ledger, and sworn to by the Cashier and Teller.

	Checks.	Deposits.	Totals.

Dec. ...	21,080.86	27,956.08	49,036.94
Total Checks for the year	1906		$284,230.77
Total Deposits for the	year 1906		292,628.96

Total Clearance for year 1906 $576,859.73
The particular and itemized financial standing will be reported to you by the cashier.

After the president's annual address, Hon. J. C. Napier, the cashier, made a very inspiring speech. He referred partly to the confidence the bank had made among the individual depositors, its own stockholders and other financial institutions, which it is said ought to encourage more confidence among our own people. The statements show that only two months in the present year had fallen behind the monthly business during 1905. This, however, was overcome in the total, which was over $50,000 in business.

Report of the One Cent Savings Bank made to the Comptroller for the month of December, 1906:

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 31, 1906.
FRANK DIBRELL,

I, J. C. Napier, Cashier of the above named One Cent Savings Bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief, and that the same was or will be published in the Globe of Nashville, Tenn., on January 5th, 1907.
(Signed.) J. C. NAPIER, Cashier.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 31st day of December, 1906.
(Signed.) C. N. LANGSTON, (Seal.) Notary Public.

The following directors were re-elected: Lewis Winter, J. W. Grant, W. D. Chappelle, T. G. Ewing, J. A.
Cullom, Wm. Haynes, J. B. Bosley, E. B. Jefferson, G. W. McKissick, R.
F. Boyd, J. S. Martin, Wm. Beckham, C. S. Randals, Henry Allen Boyd, Preston Taylor.

All of the directors except Mr.
Henry A. Boyd, were re-elected. He being the only new director on the board, succeeding Rev. G. I. Jackson, whose residence is moved from the State.

The Board of directors held a meeting immediately after the adjournment of the stockholders. It was called to order by Rev. R. H. Boyd.
All were present except J. A. Cullom, who was represented by proxy. The officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: R. H. Boyd, President; J. W. Bostic, Vice President; J. C. Napier, Cashier.

THEN THE MILLENNIUM.

Free the race of one third of the hypocrites, and bridle the Associate Press with a "rip saw bit" and lynchings will be a thing of the past. Riots will be as scarce as hen teeth and affairs similar in name to the Brownville occurrence will be looked upon as a dream, imaginary, fiction and an idea known only to the witchcraft believers.—The Owensboro, (Ky.), Kentucky Reporter.

JUST IN TIME.

That the young men of the Globe are on hand when needed was evidenced a night or so ago, when one of them undoubtedly helped to save the life of a veteran equine on Jo Johnston avenue. The horse had fallen on the rails of the street car track and the two boys in the wagon came to the conclusion that it would require less energy to leave the poor brute on the track than to try and get him on his feet. The Good Samaritan of the Globe called for volunteers and in a very short time the decrepit quadruped was raised from the ground, the newspaper man acting as a prop until the animal had recovered his equilibrium.

On account of the excellent showing of the trained nurses at Mercy Hospital, they are in great demand.
